My Ber Ber,

From the time I first met you, you've always been so playful and comforting. Growing up in our family isn't easy but you made it out with me at 10 years old. I was so happy to give you a new warm cozy home with so much space for you to roam and sun bathe. You gave us the best emotional support throughout our years together, especially during my pregnancy. I'll never forget the loud purrs you would give my belly as you lay across me. You knew exactly when we needed you the most. Our snuggles were unmatched and I'm sure it made Daniel jealous a few times...You were still so playful in your elder years, playing with a blanket or watching our hands because if they looked anything like a spider, you were in attack mode. You loved to talk and speak up when you were feeling left out of a situation with us and Oliver. Our meows back and forth will be missed dearly. You loved your belly rubs, but it took a special certain someone to get you to flop over in your trust. Oh, I could write for days about you, Ber Ber.

You'll always hold an endearing place in my heart. Thank you for always being a little shadow!

Forever my Ber Ber, Berry Boy.
