You were my light at the end of my tunnel in my darkest times. You always met me at the door, and snuggled me wherever I sat. I will miss your beautiful face and your warmth on my lap. Mommy loves you Buddy. Snuggle Smokey Bear for me when you get to the other side of the Rainbow Bridge. My heart is breaking but I know you had to leave me. Spooky will love Mommy until we both get there to join you. You were the best furchild, and my heart.

It is so difficult to lose someone who has loved you unconditionally...so difficult to be without a constant companion...but, God gives us an allotted amount of time with our pets...although it seems so short we become better people because of them. When you truly love them...there are no bounds...hugs and love to you...
