“ Callie was only 7 yrs and 4 months old...she was a beautiful, smart but very picky pain in the butt lol...she loved me more then anyone but still loved and played with my hubby and the kids here or there as she has grown through the years...my husband helped birth her and we helped her momma raise her from day one....she was spunky but had a mean side that left her hissing at everyone here or there but me lol...through the years she has helped us as a therapy cat and as a part of our family ,get through some tough times...she is so much loved even now after her death....she was a happy kitty and we wish she was still here to continue her love and pain in the butt ways...we weren't ready to say good bye but she has joined the kitty angels and gained her wings...we miss and love you Callie baby RIP my baby girl...you are deeply missed...your death took a piece of hearts with u...now go get those birds up high until we meet again my furbaby

“ She was such a a light in the household...she was spunky but could be mean...she was one of those cats that choose one human to love forever and no one else mattered as much....she was my husband's and my first baby as a couple and I say that cuz he helped momma get her out squeaking lol..he was up all night waiting for her and he babies her since...she had her good moments with the kids too and just helped the household so much when times got rough...we will forever and eternally miss her and her pain in the butt attitude lol...RIP babygirl we are always gonna miss u and love u unconditionally💕💕
