I first met caroline on September 16 of 2016. At first she kinda freaked me out because I had never seen a reptile in person before ,and I personally had never even heard of a Bearded Dragon. So when I held her or the first time I was completely terrified, in a matter of second she was climbing up my shirt looking me directly in the eyes. That to me was something I'd never thought I see with an animal. You could see her eyes wandering over me as if she were judging my charcter. She was something else that's for sure lol. She was always wandering off to weird spot. I remember coming over to find her stuck under the bed cuddled up next to a bag of old clothes. No matter where she was she was never too far from Tiffany. Those two stuck together like crazy glue. Tiffany was always pampering her with the best in pet supplies and food. I would sometimes catch tiffany going to sleep with caroline attached to her chest, both content with what they had as long as they were together. She is an amazing soul and a great companion and it's warming to know that she will be in safe hand in heaven with loved ones.
