“ Our precious boy, Diesel Jay, crossed the rainbow bridge today— just one week shy of his birthday. Though his time on earth ended too soon for our hearts, his love will live with us forever.

He came into my life as the greatest Christmas gift I could have ever received. He will be deeply missed by his loyal fur brother, Duke, Our whole family feels the ache of his absence, but none more than his human sister Larkin, who grew up with him by her side.

We are grateful he was able to meet his newest human sister, Zavannah, even if only for a short time. He welcomed her with the same gentle love he offered all of us.

Twelve years was not nearly enough, but every day with him was a blessing. Thank you for being by my side through it all. So happy he will be with his Best Friend Tucker Rae. We miss you and love you... until we meet again ❤️
