He was a Gentle Giant and one COOL dog. He would never let you know how tired he was of retrieving a green tennis ball when you threw it or bounced it up high in the air in the back yard. He would keep bringing it back to you, lay it at your feet and wait patiently until you threw it or bounced it to him again. He loved attention and it was always hard not to give it to him. He deserved it. I used to play tennis but tennis balls will have a new meaning to me. They will always bring me great memories of Duke. Gone too soon, my friend...see you down the road...Cliff
