“ Sweet Emma-I remember the day I first met you. I couldn't believe we were so lucky to have you as a part of our family. You grew to be so loved. From your gentleness to your excitement around food, there is no dog quite like you. I'll never forget the stink eye you would give me when I tried to take your picture, your murmurs if you were displeased, or the way you'd tap me with your paw if you wanted to be rubbed more. I hope you are spending time with Reagan and know that we all miss you so much. Until we meet again. -Aunt Krissy

“ Oh Emma. You didn't like me, like most other dogs but you tolerated me well. I know you were loved deeply though and will forever be missed.

“ Emmakins was our beloved granddog. When she visited, she knew there would be a bowl of treats immediately. And if she asked, there would be another bowl. And she always asked! Emma loved climbing to the couch on her stairs and snuggling beside whoever was reading or napping (preferably napping). Emma didn't see or hear well, but she loved well. By now she has met all of the family pets and is being loved by the family pet lovers. It was an honor to love and care for this very special creature from God.

“ Such a gentle little beast. I’ll always remember your tap-dancing pageantry and hopping routine as I prepared your meals. It was the most active you would be each and every day. Your food would be devoured in a matter of seconds and you’d then find one of your many beds to rest on. Miss you.

“ Oh, my little Emma Bean. You were my little queen. The amount of beds you acquired here amazed me. You came with one and left us with about 8. You were such a simple yet demanding little critter. You wanted Mommy, you did not want your brother, you did not want to meet other dogs, and you demanded to be fed on time by Daddy. I miss your 3am checkups, where you’d give me a kiss and make me tickle your tummy, even if for a few seconds. I loved how your little tongue came to hangout the side and you still knew you were beautiful. I miss you and your furriness terribly.
