Yesterday, my Grizzly was given his Angel Wings. He was loved by so many, but the love he gave was immeasurable.

To me, he was a best friend and companion. By my side always. He was the king in our family and in our neighborhood, always anxious to meet a new cold nosed friend. He loved to go on walkabout with his sister and cousins, Marley, Sam, Dude and Richard.

He loved running with the deer, taking walks and sleeping in the sun. His bucket list was to catch a squirrel, (that never happened) but he certainly loved chasing them. And he loved his sweets. Ice cream, cake, hershey kisses and m & m's, you name it!

He was the only pup I ever had that "don't eat meat". And I will conclude with Grizzly taught me many things about love and compassion

Those will stay with me forever, as will Grizzly, always in my heart.
