“ Gucci favorite person in the world was my dad, after he passed she looked for him for months around my mom's house. I know he was smiling ear to ear when he seen you running his way. You two can play rough once again now. Take good care of her dad, I know you will.

“ To the most beautiful, most loving, most kind, most caring girl in the whole widest world ❤️ I would remind you that every morning when I'd walk down the stairs to wake you up for the day...now I walk down and see your spot empty and my heart is broken baby girl 😞 you've been there for me through so many phases of my life and I am so blessed that I got to have you as my very best friend through it all...thank you for giving me unconditional love and all the best sloppy kisses right when I needed them ❤️ I'm still heart broken, but I'm trying to remind myself of all the wonderful memories I got to have with you this last year. To all the best cuddles, our daily walks (and runs 🐾), all the best and funnest family adventures to all your favorite trails and dog parks, all the fun car rides with ice cream cones, and you gave king the best companion and support. You loved us all unconditionally and we will keep your memory alive every single day.

If love could've saved you, you would have lived forever ❤️ Rest easy, Gucci girl ☐ 🐾

“ This is the last selfie that I got to take with my beautiful baby just four hours before she passed. I tried to stay happy the whole time to enjoy the last precious moment we were going to share together here on earth. But knowing the end was approaching way too fast and not being able to slow down time a possibility, I held in as many tears as I could to be able to hear your breath continue while I able to cherish it. I enjoyed those last few hours with you just as much as every other joyful moment you brought my life. Not only my life, but everyone you every met as well. You were such a loving girl who drew in all the attention of everyone you encountered and quickly made them fall in love with you.

We adopted you when you were no larger then the palm of my hand, just over a week old. I was merely a pup myself, I had just graduated high-school and about to face life and all its obstacles. You were there to put a smile on my face every step of the way and keep me from darkness. I could always expect a big smile everytime I seen you. There was something special about you Gucci. You were like a child to me and loosing you has been one of the toughest things that my heart has endured. Not one day will you not live on in my memory, prayers, and in Heaven.

Gucci was born 5/14/2011 and lived the most amazing life possible until 8/1/2025 at the age of 14 years old.

Gucci was loved by many, and her memory will run wild forever.

Rest in peace my beautiful baby. Love Aaron.
