“ Sorry for your loss. Having lost 4 dogs over the years, I know that they are missed daily. Although I never met your dog, I thoroughly enjoyed seeing the pictures over the years.

“ One day I happened to look out the salon window and I see two little girls getting out of a car dressed in tutus skipping across the lot. The door flew open and two princesses ran to look over the 1/2 door towards the corner Isis was always in, only to see it was empty. I had to apologize because that day Isis wasn't there. Mom explained that her daughter had her friend over and told her all about the pink princess dog and she couldn't wait to show her friend Isis the pink princess dog. I'm sure the next visit this wish was fulfilled because it was very rare that Isis was not at the salon. Isis had this effect on everyone who laid eyes on her. People of all ages peered into that corner wanting to see, pet and take pictures of her... and Isis loved it. She would gently approach everyone and allow them to love on her. This beautiful creature of God started her life in a crate ( cocoon ). Then one she met the love of her life ( Jan) and was given color and she transformed( like a butterfly) never to see the bars of a crate again.

Isis lived 3 lives getting the Best in her older years. She started life as a poor caged breeder dog. Giving birth to litters of puppies until she was taken in by a groomer, she & her 2 brothers were then rehomed & she found a family with young children & new fur siblings (all male) that played rough & tousled her. She was discontent & I knew she wanted a home that would Love & appreciate her gentle, happy, kind, & Loving soul. That's where she found herself in the life that gave back the happiness she brought to sooo many throughout the years! She was finally pampered & treated like the Princess she was Always meant to be. Jan needed her at that time as much as she needed Jan. She was very Lucky to have Jan & live a long, Happy life with her & everyone in her grooming family!

Jan, I am so very sorry for your loss. It breaks my heart to see part of a family pass. Isis was such a sweet girl and we always looked forward to seeing her at Royal Dutch Grooming. One thing to always remember is she had the BEST home full of love for her. Thank you for sharing Isis with all of us. May she Rest In Peace with all of our pet Angels until we see them all again. May God bless you and help you get through this difficult time. You are all in our thoughts and prayers.
