

Jacy Soisson

June 1, 2009 - December 8, 2023

Jacy, also known as Jacy Macy Baby Facey, took her last breath at 12:45 pm on Friday, December 8, 2023, while we held her in our arms letting her know how we loved her so. She let us know how much she loved us as she purred with her sweet, sweet voice right up to her peaceful end.

In the beginning, you had us at meow. You, without a doubt, had the cutest and most adorable face we've ever seen; there will never be another as beautiful, as sweet, as innocent as you. Your long luxurious locks were softer than silk and your sparkling baby blue eyes were simply brilliant. You and your brother Jaspar came into our lives in July 2009. The two of you were inseparable right from the start. You stole our hearts and we fell in love with you. Your petite stature didn't hold you back, your brother was more than twice your size and every time you tangled, you prevailed the victor. Yet your sweet and gentle demeanor was your true personality. You gave and shared your love unconditionally with both of your mommies and you loved to snuggle and cuddle with each of us. You were such a creature of habit with your daily routines and your fastidious preening. Every night at bedtime you got your love from Momma PJ in the family room and then your nighttime lullaby from Momma Dru. We were blessed to have you share your love with us, though the crushing heartache is just unbearable over losing you. You are free from pain and suffering, though now we suffer with the grief of having to let you go. We hope that Jordan and Jedi met you at the Rainbow Bridge. Jaspar is terribly lost without you.

Jacy, our baby girl, we will be endlessly missing you. Jacy, you will live forever in our hearts and our memories until we meet again.
