“Kitty was intelligent, aware, and a very smart cat to have not been trained. Kitty was very independent and wanted things done her way and most of the time, it was her way. Sometimes when we were having our dinner and a lot of times we have our dinner sitting on our living room couch using tray tables and Sometimes, without us being aware Kitty would reach her paw on our plate and get what she wanted before we knew what she did, that was one of Kitty's incidences.
