

Lexi Vickers

June 25, 2012 - December 20, 2023

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

AH

“ I only met Lexi once. She hid at first ,but finally came out to say hello. She posed for a beautiful photo for me. She was a quiet cat, soft little meow. She wasn't to trusting of people. Her cat father Jim was her favorite. She loved him, and he loved her. Jim gave Lexi the best life possible. Lexi had a very rough and sad start in life. Jim made sure Lexi and her cat siblings had / have the best life possible. Lexi's cat mother Angie always loved her. She would talk to her and stroke her soft fur often. As much as Lexi would allow, and make sure she was cared for as well. She truly loved Lexi. Lexi was loved and will deeply be missed by Jim ,Angie all those who got to meet her and her cat siblings ,Abby ,Bella and Zippy ! Rest well dear Lexi across the Rainbow Bridge. The place all loved pets go !

Anita Hollingsworth - December 25, 2023 at 10:18 PM

JV

“ Lexi lou lou or sexi Lexi as we commonly called her was a long haired domestic with soft. Beautiful hair.her adopted mother Abby (2. Yes older gave her head to toe baths weekly and would sleep with her afterward! Her visit with me in my man cave (nightly) I would feed her chicken fish and pork whatever was on the menu. Afterward I would love to pet her and give her a belly rub to finish the visit. We love and miss her and Angie always loved her soft little meow.

Jim and Angie vickers - December 25, 2023 at 06:10 PM

AM

“ Amber Mills lit a candle in memory of Lexi Vickers

Amber Mills - December 22, 2023 at 09:54 PM

AH

“ Anita Hollingsworth lit a candle in memory of Lexi Vickers

Anita Hollingsworth - December 22, 2023 at 09:53 PM

AV

“ Angelena & James Vickers lit a candle in memory of Lexi Vickers

Angelena & James Vickers - December 22, 2023 at 02:34 PM