“ My baby, I miss you everyday. I find myself looking for you and wanting to call out your name. I miss you laying on me and comforting me at night. You loved the heating blanket as much as I still love it. You were my rock in a lot of ways and you loved unconditionally. You were always by my side through everything whether good or bad. You never wavered in your support or your love. Everyone loved you because of how sweet and perfect you still are, even as you are up in heaven. Please look down on me and continue to bless me because you were such a blessing in my life. I will one day be reunited with you and that will be my greatest joy! I love you forever and until we meet again, love you and bless you,
Your mother
