

Symba Hayward Haubeil

August 15, 2006 - October 14, 2024

Symba was my best friend for 18 years. I was very blessed.

On the 2nd day, Michael went to work. Symba and I were alone, she climbed up on the back of my wheelchair, she came and sat on my left shoulder and she looked at me with big innocent green eyes, we clicked. I'll never forget this.

Michael and I loved her with our whole hearts. She was our first fur daughter. Sweet black cat named Faith was our 2nd fur daughter. Symba and Faith were best friends, like sisters. When they were kittens, my mom and I watched: Symba was teaching Faith how to climb up on the coffee table to sit in the window. Faith was following her big sister. So cute! (Faith died at aged 11 in 2018 from diabetes - we were so heartbroken. We loved her too)

She and I loved to cuddle in the bed at night and sometimes at naps.

When she was younger, she hated water. She got scared when I was in the shower. She meowed at me to get out. She was so adorable.

When I got depression many times in the past, Symba was my nurse and laid down just there for me. She always put her paw on my face, if as if to say - everything will be ok. She was my angel.

One night I had to sleep without my cats, Symba meowed wanting to be with me. I had trouble sleeping at that time. That morning my door was open, Symba was so happy, looking at my door and her food deciding which to see first. She ate her food fast, then she ran to see me. I felt so loved. She was so sweet.

She always made sure I was ok every night and cuddled with me. I miss her sitting on my desk or on the table wanting to be petted. She was my everything. Symba loved giving a high five to everyone she met. She was so sweet. I loved her little face with big anime green eyes. She was my gift from Jesus for 18 years. Now she is with Him along with our fur children. I will see them on day. I love you, Symba.

Tribute Wall

DB

“ *Your cat was friendly to you a lot she will miss you a lot now she waits till she will meet you again
God takes her a lot. She watches over u now
God bless you love always*

---

Dawn Brothers - November 27, 2024 at 09:22 PM

ER

“ *Erin lit a candle in memory of Symba
Hayward Haubeil*

---

Erin - October 14, 2024 at 03:33 PM