“ Timber, you finally came home again. You made this castle a home again. You showed up in black and gold just like you were. I know its you buddy. And I hope you know that you are head of the living room, where your spot was buddy. You've already done enough but please look over us and keep us safe like you always did buddy. I miss and love you buddy.

“ Timber , I could never In a million years thank you enough for being our best friend and the perfect fur baby. You were always glued to me from the time I got home from work until I'd walk out the door in the mornings. I quickly became your momma and your second favorite person. We spent plenty of days rotting on the couch watching trashy tv, eating a snack together , and waiting for your dad to get home from work . There was never a snack that was just for me because you always had a bite or two 🐶 doggy ice creams & puppiginos changed your life and the ultimate treat was your ice cream with the little bump of whipped cream on top... I know spoiled rotten. I'd love how you would just get us up from being comfy or stop us from whatever we were doing because it was getting close to 8:30 (ice cream time). You ruled the house and both of us . It was always your world and we just lived in it but it was the best world to live in. I miss you so much and love you even more . There won't ever be a day that I won't think about you. I'm still gonna try and buy every lamb chop toy I come across and try to convince your dad why you need another but then it'll hit me and I'll just wish to myself that I hope you have the same one in heaven. I miss your little whines when ever you were happy and the way you held your toys and your paws would just go back and forth . Everytime the fire whistle goes off I wait to hear you “sing” or “mooooo” , and as the saying goes you can't teach an old dog new tricks but we proved them wrong handsome . I know it's not a goodbye just a see you later and I could go on and on about you but this is a good start for now. I love you sweet boy ❤️🐾

“ Well Mr. Timber, My buddy, My best friend for the last 8 years. You were by my side through everything. The last 8 years you've been with me through the happiest and saddest of times. We moved into a home together that you instantly made it your castle. You gave Momma a chance when she came into your life and she became your best friend also, we couldnt ask for a better man's best friend. You listened to us every time we had something to rant about(with a little side eye judgement of course) but you still stuck by our side. You did your job buddy. Im gonna miss everything about you buddy, from all the football games and nascar races we watched together, to all the food we had together, random naps we had together, you howling when the fire whistle goes off, to waiting for momma at the door together when she gets home from work. We got through life together and you kept me going buddy. We had 1 more christmas together and I cant thank you enough for hanging on aslong as you did. Its gonna be different coming home everyday and not seeing you smile when I walk through the door. But I know you did the best you could for me and I tried doing the best I could for you. To my best friend, Mr. Timber im going to miss you, I love you buddy. You get all the pup cups you want now❤️
