“ I miss you and love you so much sweetheart 💕 Merry Christmas. I wish you were here.

“ I know we speak every day in my heart but it has been a long time since I've told you how much I love you in this medium. Every day I think of you sweetheart. It never hurts less, it just gets easier to be in this much pain. I can still remember how petting your ears, patting your tummy, and booping your nose feels with clarity and that keeps me sane. Sometimes it just feels like you're in your nap spot in the dining room, then I remember I'll never see you again and we end up back at square one. We'll be in Colorado on the 1 year date without you and I don't know if I'm ready for that. I might need another dream visit if you aren't too busy. I miss you sweetheart and I'll live you forever 💛

“ The only peace I have is knowing that you're not terrified right now as all these fireworks and summer storms have been going off. I miss you sweetheart. Love you endlessly 💕

“ I stopped writing because it wasn't helping, but today is crushing me. Getting ready to leave work and you aren't going to be there when I get home. It still sucks so indescribably much. Love you baby girl

“ I tried writing to you earlier. I'm running out of words to describe how much I love you and still miss you. Hopefully, somehow, you already know. Still, nothing quite feels real. I'm just waiting to wake up and it isn't happening.

“ I don't want it to totally stop hurting. That would feel too much like forgetting. But can we make it a little bit less relentless? How much time has to pass before life feels okay again? That's all I'm asking for. I love you baby girl. Not a speck of that love will ever fade, no matter how much time passes.

“ Just wanted to let you know I literally never stop thinking of you. I resent every day I had the chance to photograph you and didn't. I hate myself for every day I decided to work a few extra hours. I will never forgive myself for all the plans I had for you girls that went unrealized. I just want to know what happened, honey. I'm wracking my brain trying to figure out what I did wrong. I just hope whatever there is past this life leaves you with memories of how loved you were, and still are. I dont know if writing to you is actually helping, but I don't know what else I'm supposed to do. I miss you baby and I love you endlessly.

“ Today was really hard, love. Strange how some days feel like you're still here, and days like today feel like it will never get better. Sending you belly rub and endless kisses tonight, sweetie.

“ I miss you so much honey. It isn't any easier, I've just learned to hide it a little better. I was just thinking about how beautiful you're eyes were today and the pain of it really might crush me into the ground. I love you sweetie.

“ Willow was the best dog and friend that anyone could ask for. Her favorite thing in the world was to get belly rubs. No matter the time or place, if you went to pet her, she instantly would lay down and roll onto her back so that you could rub her belly. She also absolutely loved to share blueberries with me. As soon as she heard the container open, she would come running across the room and sit nicely in anticipation of her treat. She was a great hiking partner and overall just an amazing companion. I'm so happy I got to spend the majority of her life with her. She made me fuller and I hope I did the same for her. I'll miss how excited she would get when her mom would come home from work, or when we'd get her leash to take her on an adventure. She will always be my baby girl. I love you Willow.

“ I remember when I first got you, you made beautiful nose art on the car window the whole way home. You constantly made me laugh silly girl. Nothing was better than coming home to you and Crispy every day and getting pounced on when you couldn't stop hopping you were so excited to see me. The way "belly rub" was the only thing on your mind, there is nothing I wouldn't do to rub that tummy again. The way you used to sleep up around my head at night. The way you felt cuddled up to my legs on the recliner. The way you would swat your sister to try to get treats first. The way you got so excited to eat blueberries with your sister and daddy. I'll never stop thinking about you and Crispy covered in mud when we went to the dog park the first time. Or how you looked into your daddy's eyes every time he would sing you your song. I'll never forget the last Christmas we shared, with your Uncle Aidan, Aunt Dooder, and cousin Toby, when we opened all of your presents you made sure to take the squeaker out of all of Crispy and Toby's toys too. My heart was so full with you in the house. It's so hard now baby girl. I'm doing my best for you so that Crispy and your daddy are taken care of but it's so, so hard. I'll do everything I can to take care of them for you, I just need some time. I hope you can forgive me sweetheart. I'll never stop loving you. You made my dreams come true.
